BATTLE OF THE BREWERS

To celebrate our fantastic real ale breweries in Scotland we are launching an annual competition for our customers to choose their favourite brewery for 2010.

3 brewers every month will choose 3 of their own beers to be sold over 4 days at The Last Post, Paisley.

Brewers from the Borders to the Highlands and Islands will be taking part and we are offering the unique chance for our customers to taste the best real ale Scotland has to offer.

15 BREWERS, 45 BEERS, 1- WINNER

The winner of the competition will have their ale sold throughout the year at The Last Post and presented a plaque to celebrate their success.

The winners of each heat will be decided by a mystery judging panel consisting of Camra members, brewers total ale sales over the 4 days and public votes.

Below is a monthly schedule for the Battle, these will be finalised 2 weeks before each heat. Winners of the heat will be notified on the Monday.

If you want to support your local or favourite brewer, please come along to their heat. The brewers will be choosing their own beer however most will have a limited edition seasonal special included so it is worthwhile coming in to taste them as these beers are not available often. Only 1 keg of each beer will be available so if there is one you would especially like to try I would advise you to get there early.

If you are interested in what beers are on sale please call the pub direct on the number above from the Monday before the event.

I hope to see you throughout these dates and good luck to all the brewers
